"Uncle Joe's Corner" presents an animated appearance all the way through. Fanning implements, the people want and he has them, right.

Mr. Shults, implement salesman for Joseph Hunt, is not only a base ball enthusiast but encourages the club as a business venture, to advertise the town.

It is reported that a man named Maloney, believed to be implicated in the Echo postoffice robbery, was arrested at Chelsea a few days ago with a stolen horse.

The ladies of the W. C. T. U. will give a concert in the Methodist church next Monday night. An interesting program will be presented. No admission; all invited.

W. L. Trotter will contract to build your house or supply you with everything needed to complete it from foundation to roof, and furnish you a desirable lot to put it on.

For the benefit of advertisers we would like to whisper a word in their ears: THE CHIEFTAIN visits a few more homes than it ever did before. A word to the wise is sufficient.

An important meeting of the women is to be held in this city next Saturday, April 30th. It is desired that all parties interested in the coming round-up will be present.

M. D. Renfrow, the enterprising Farming merchant, places an advertisement before our readers this week. His efforts to build up a trade at Big Cabin are meeting with success.

Whether in search of a plow or a steam thrasher, the prudent man turns to Mr. Shults, at "Uncle Joe's Corner." A glance at Mr. Hunt's ad. shows what is being done on the "corner."

Allen Blevins, of Bluejacket, was down this week and contracted for a quarter of a column of THE CHIEFTAIN's valuable space. His house is enjoying a good trade and his advertisement is in very good company.

Judge H. T. Landrum was admitted to the Fort Smith bar last week while down there. The position of judge debar him from practice in the Cherokee courts and hence he turns to Uncle Sam's tribunals.

Lem Paris, the great watermelon raiser, was in from Catala this week and reports the planting of a two acre patch of this favorite collins. Mr. Paris applies brains to his farming operations and makes it profitable as well as pleasant.

Amos Adair's little boy was accidentally shot in the arm last Saturday by a pistol in the hands of Willie Allen. The wound was an unimportant one, except as it emphasizes the proposition that boys should not be allowed to have pistols.

A strange Indian was killed near Claremore Tuesday night. He took charge of a horse, ran the women off and caused a general disturbance. Several men went to see what was the matter, when the stranger opened on them with his weapon and they killed him.

The May term of the Fort Smith Court has been postponed until the first day of July, 1892, for the want of funds to pay witnesses. All witnesses who have been subpoenaed or recognized to appear and testify before the grand jury will be at Fort Smith on that day.

W. L. Trotter, the lumber man of Vinita, says, notwithstanding the competition throughout the country he can hardly supply the demand for building material—comes arriving daily. He will, within a few days, add a complete stock of builders' hardware. Give us another lumber yard in Vinita.

On account of the annual convention of the Southern Baptist association to be held at Atlanta, Ga., May 6th to 13th, the Frisco railway will sell round trip tickets on May 3rd and 4th at one fare for the round trip, good for return passage until May 31st. Tickets sold via St. Louis or Nichols and Memphis.

C. F. Thompson's delivery wagon will believe in "quitting" at six o'clock as promptly as the carpenter. He was at the mill the other night when the white bull started out over a race horse, turning the wagon over and making things hum. Jim Walker, the driver, was thrown out but held on to the lines and stopped the brute before he could get away.

The rivalry and competition between some of our merchants is getting interesting and profitable as well. Nothing is more conducive to the life of a town than energetic business men. The people in the surrounding country are not slow to perceive that they are the beneficiaries of all competition among the merchants and as a consequence spend their money more freely.

The Shawnee Payment. The Shawnees have been in high feather this week and to the number of 812 have received $7.00 each at the hands of Indian Agent Bennett, being a balance of unexpended funds due from the government. The exclusion of all children having Cherokee blood in their veins has caused much dissatisfaction, but as the roll was prepared and certified to by the chiefs and head men the government felt warranted in accepting it as correct.

The People Indignant.

An uproar was occasioned in the country traversed by the Arkansas Valley road last Monday, north of Claremore, by the report that J. H. Bartles was going to unload three to five thousand cattle at Nowata and drive them across to the Osage pastures.

The people congregated in large numbers at that point declaring that the cattle should not be unloaded there, and Will Carey went down the road and met the first train at Tulsa.

Mr. Bartles from his purpose. The train was held several hours at the point named and was then run through to Lenapah, ten or twelve miles north of Nowata, and unloaded there. The impression is, even among the conservative element, that trouble will ensue.

A True Artist.

The reporter dropped into the photographic studio of Mr. Mackson, south of the Cobb hotel, yesterday and found him busily engaged behind the camera, while a row of sittings awaited his attention.

The people are all taking advantage of the cheap rates now being made ($2.50 a dozen for cabinet). The work is equal to that produced in the largest cities and at half the price, because the present offers a rare opportunity for securing a fine picture.

Mr. Mackson is a graduate of the Royal Academy of Art at St. Petersburg, and those who sit for pictures before him are assured of the benefit which science and experience add to a high natural artistic talent. All of the most improved apparatus is employed by the gentlemen, including the drop shutter by which only the fractional part of a second is required to take a most perfect negative—a guarantee of natural expression.

The Silent Reaper.

Twice since last issue of THE CHIEFTAIN has death visited our town and two of our friends of mature years and understanding have passed forever from our midst. One, in life's prime, was years ago stricken with an hereditary disease, consumption; the other had reached nearly the three score and ten allotted by the prophet of old.

In one instance a husband, a father, has gone out from the home which man will say can Ily spare him. In the other a "mother in Israel" has yielded up her charge. Verily, "All seasons are thine, O Death."

George B. Reibel, aged 35, died April 22, 1892, at 9:00 a. m., of consumption. Funeral services were conducted at the Presbyterian church on the afternoon following and the interment took place in the cemetery north of the city. Deceased leaves a wife, the daughter of S. H. Skinner, and two young children. He had been in very delicate health for some years and for many weeks the end had foreshadowed itself.

Nancy J. Dameron, aged sixty-six years, died at 1:05 a. m. last Sunday, April 24th. Services were conducted at the Methodist church, her regular place of worship, Monday afternoon, from whence loving hands consigned her remains carefully to the grave. She leaves a son and a large circle of relatives and friends to mourn her death.

STILL ANOTHER.

Oather, son of Mr. and Mrs. M. M. Wright, born May 19, 1893, died April 27, 1892. Funeral from the residence of the parents at 10 o'clock, a. m., this Thursday, April 28th. In this hour of their sore bereavement our young friends will receive the sympathy of all and words of condolence, however much they fail of the purpose intended, will be freely uttered.

Excise would blight, or sorrow fade, Death came with friendly care, And opened him to heaven's conveyer, And bade it bloom there.

NOTES FROM ADIR.

—On Saturday, the 25th, our burg was likened to a "ghost town" because of the fact that all of the young ladies and gentlemen had gone off on a fishing spree. It is not recorded what they caught, but all returned with good grins and we suppose they had a pleasant time.

—The storm of Tuesday, the 19th, caused considerable excitement; it came up just as the north bound passenger train came in, and the wind was so strong that the train did not move out with its accustomed speed for fear of being turned over. The wind being from the west and striking it broadside. The only serious damage done in town was by blowing down a telegraph pole on the Osage road. A large oak tree, large enough to make a large pile of building wood. The tree being robust and in a day or two will look as though nothing had ever happened to it.

THANKS RETURNED.

Mr. Edmonson—Please allow me to thank you for the copy of your paper to return my heart-felt thanks to all friends, countrymen and especially the people of Vinita, for their kind and generous interest in the illness and funeral of my beloved mother.

For a number of years I have been subject to indigestion and attacks of inflammatory rheumatism which generally lasted about two months. On the first of this month I was attacked in the knee and suffered severely for two days, when I procured a bottle of Chamberlain's pain balm and it relieved me.
